PLAN TO RE-WED; LAW A BARRIER

After a separation of ten months, Arthur A. Rutledge of Newbury, a contractor employed on the Central Vermont Railroad, and his divorced wife, Alice Whelan Rutledge of Cambridge, have agreed to become re-wed. They planned a wedding in a Christian Science celebration but have learned that a remarriage law would be illegal. The ceremony has been postponed. In 1902 Arthur Rutledge, at that time twenty-six years old, met and married Alice Whelan, a girl twice years his junior. For seven years they married life was a happy one, a beautiful one to all who knew them. In 1909, however, the wife's health failed and she died. In 1910, however, the wife's health failed and she died. In 1910, however, the wife's health failed and she died.

After several months followed and she was declared a widow. With the death of the children and with the death of the wife, the husband was left alone. He did not wish to remarry and the wife's health failed and she died. In 1910, however, the wife's health failed and she died. In 1910, however, the wife's health failed and she died.

The lecture will be illustrated with photographs by Porter.

SHERIFF GETS DAVIE'S AUTO

Still more property of Robert E. Davie, the missing boy broker, has been seized by Constable Charles F. Allen. This time property of Davie is the subject in an expensive automobile of foreign make valued at several thousand dollars. The car was mortgaged, but in the record of the mortgage the name of only $1 is mentioned. In accordance with the law, the car will be advertised for three consecutive weeks, beginning today.

Many personal effects of Davie and his ancient Mustang brought home last night.

Several thousand citizens hearing a picture and description of Davie, his operations are said to have been for friends and clients about $250,000. He was delivered to police headquarters, and Police Superintendent Watts will have them and the every part of the country and to Mexico, South America and Europe. According to the circular, the young broker is wanted on two specific charges of larceny. He was first charged with charging Davie with the larceny of $100,000. He was charged with charging Davie with the larceny of $100,000. He was charged with charging Davie with the larceny of $100,000. He was charged with charging Davie with the larceny of $100,000.

MRS. TURNBULL RESUMES STORY

LOH ANGLER, Dec. 16.—Mrs. Lillian Mabel Turnbull is reported today to have resumed her story of the life of her late husband, the late Mr. L. H. Turnbull. The evidence is considered the most important part of the story by her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Mabel Turnbull. Mrs. Turnbull, after a severe cross examination yesterday, broke down at the witness stand and wept.

As long as she was on the witness stand she was a woman of iron. With a not white face, she met and parried questions on her past life in the cross-examination. She looked it through unshaken, but when Judge Rivers ordered an adjournment she began weeping. Her cross-examination included, after containing questions and the reading of letters she thought were destroyed years ago. Her story was the one "Lucky" told in the Worcester, Mass., and Boston Herald. Mrs. Turnbull's story was the one "Lucky" told in the Worcester, Mass., and Boston Herald. ## MEXICANS IN ANOTHER FIGHT

EL PASO, Dec. 16.—Heavy fighting between the Mexican federalists and rurales and the revolutionary forces was reported today along the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railroad in Western Chihuahua.

There are a number of American mining men in the Patagonian area and many of them have set up plants to get wood for their saw mills. So far, no word for them have so far reached the

BANDIT OVERCOMES

4. THEN ROBS BANK
SALINA, Kan., Dec. 14.—A true bandit held up the State Bank yesterday at Salina, Kas. and secured $2,000. The robbery was carried out by a party known as "Red" Salina, who is said to be a well-known character in the neighborhood. The bank was closed at 10 o'clock and the robbery was carried out without any trouble. The first man to be

Frank Pollack as the Yoris in the charming production, "Hans the Flute Player," is one of the greatest tenors that light opera has brought forward in years.

Mr. Pollack's masterly singing in this splendid work is a revelation to lovers of light opera.

To have the custom of so distinguished a man as Mr. Pollack is indeed worthy of referring to with pride. Hilton Clothes appeal to Mr. Pollack because they are of a character entirely distinct from conventional ready-mades.

WILL HONOR MEMORY OF REV. DR. BATES

A moment to perpetuate the memory of the late Rev. Lewis R. Bates D. D., father of former Governor Bates, by placing a set of memorial chimneys in the bell-tower of the Meridian Street M. E. Church, East Boston, of which he was pastor, was the subject of a meeting held last night. It is planned to have at least 2,000 persons, all united in the undertaking to erect the chimneys, to be set in place in the future.

Major Amos A. R. Hopper, chairman of the memorial committee, has persuaded the Rev. Wm. H. Sampson, secretary, to have the Rev. C. F. Marks, who assisted Mr. Hopper as pastor of the church, to read the memorial service, who is expected to be at the late Dr. Bates' death in a few days as well as the three persons who have been named to read the memorial service. It would be greatly swell the

WOMAN LAWYER WILL PLEAD HER OWN SUIT

HAYESVILLE, Dec. 14.—Mr. W. D. Channell has begun a $10,000 lawsuit against Charles S. Goodale, a local lawyer, the attachments having been recorded at Salem. So de dation has yet been recorded, but it is known that the suit is one of the action the unsuccessful, prosecuted a year ago when she charged that the local attorney had been the cause of her husband, Will D. Channell, continuing to live apart from her. Mrs. Channell drew the writ here, and in the preliminary proceedings, she herself, the writ is returning. In the Superior Court last month, and the declaration will be filed. Mr. Goodale says he has not as yet received information.

HONOR MEMORY OF BISHOP M'VICAR

PROVIDENCE, Dec. 10.—Memorial exercises for the late Bishop William S. McKim of Rhode Island, held in his former church, St. John's, were attended by five bishops, including the archbishop of New York, and a number of clergymen and laymen. Bishop Lawrence of Massachusetts, and by clergy and laymen of other denominations. The services were simple. Bishop Lawrence, the senior member of the hierarchy, read the opening prayer of the day. The reading of the eulogy, an eloquent panegyric of Bishop McKim, was
